

I support the do not call list. As I am one of many people that use to get bugged all day and all night from businesses like yourself to get me to buy stuff or to get a credit card. I joined the do not call list because I like my privacy and for you guys to take that away from me is unconstitutional. And if you do take it away just think of how many people will stop doing business with you and your companies. And for me if you call me you might want to give me you home number so I can call you at home. And I doubt you want to be disturbed at home, so have the mind and let people have their privacy because after all that is why they signed up for the do not call list just like I did.
